

14th Annual
Post 435 Snow Storm of the Century
Mini-Palma World Championship
Feb. 13, 2021

It was a bitter -8 degrees when I left home to head to the range for the 14th Annual Post 435 Snow Storm of the Century Mini-Palma World Championship.

Participation for the highly coveted trophy was down this year, with only 4 hardy Minnesotans making the effort. I don't know if it was the bitter cold, the ammo shortage, or the lingering threat of the dreaded WuFlu Pandemic keeping numbers down. (thanks China)

Unlike last years match, equipment malfunctions were the rule of the day, with half of our crew not finishing. I'm not sure what happened with Joe's rifle, but I took myself out because my SK ammo wasn't making the cut this year. Maybe I can score some Polar Biathlon for next year.

At the end of the day, Jon (Cool Hands) Possehl was crowned World Champion, Mike (Dead Eye) Hewitt came in second, Joe (Crash & Burn) Moore and I, well, crashed and burned.

Frostbite aside, still the most fun you can have with (multiple layers of) your clothes on.

Final Results
Jon Possehl	Scope/Bipod	192-3x
Mike Hewitt	Irons/Sandbags	170-1x
Mark Havlik	Irons/Sling	52-0x
Joe Moore	Scope/Sling	49-0x
